United Tribes meet in Lansing

The United Tribes of Michigan met in Lansing this month with a full agenda covering a wide range of topics that affect the 12 Native Sovereign Nations of the state. See pages 4 and 5 for a review of the issues and pictures of attendees. Representing Little River were the Tribal Ogema Larry Romanelli, Council Members Candace Chapman and Virgil Johnson and several staff members.

Office Shuffle in the Government

As part of the on-going effort to improve the way that services are made available for our Tribal Members as well as the effort to streamline the function of the tribal government, a number of offices are going to be moved within the buildings in Manistee. The moves include:

• The Election Board will move to an office in the old Community Center at 1726 US 31 (next to the Administration Building)
• The Commerce Department will now be located in the former Muschigon Construction offices at 294 River Street
• Muschigon Construction will now be in the offices on the north side of the building at 294 River Street
• The Human Resources Department will soon be located on the first floor of the Bank Building
• Be Da Bin will be moving to the Administration Building at 1762 US 31 (out by McDonalds)
• The Grants Department will remain in the Bank Building
• The Education Department will move to the old Community Center building

The moves will allow for expansion of service at the Tribal Health Clinic; provide more space for some offices and services that really need it and it will provide for improved confidentiality to protect members and employees alike. Please watch the Currents, Rapid River News, our website and the Public Affairs and Members Assistance booths at the Spring Membership meeting for details, new phone numbers and specific locations.

Encode your Card!

The Enrollment Department and Tax Department have announced that you must have your Tribal ID card encoded so that you can continue to receive your discount at the Trading Post on motor fuel, tobacco and cigarette purchases. Please stop by the Enrollment Department (at the Old Community Center on US 31 in Manistee) and they will update your card for you beginning March 8th, 2010. Enrollment will also be set up at the Spring Membership Meeting to update ID cards. If you don’t encode your card, you will not be able to receive the Tribal Member discount at the Gas Station!

Goals, Session Topics, & Mission Statement
Potawatomi, Laura Spurr walked on February 19th, shortly after giving a speech in California to another tribe. She will be greatly missed. I attended a memorial service for her on February 27th in Athens Michigan which was attended by approximately 450 persons.

Just a reminder, our Spring Membership meeting is coming up on April 10th at the Little River Casino Resort. The Ogema’s Meet and Greet will be held on Friday evening as usual, however, it will only be from 6-7PM. We are allowing time from 7-8PM for discussion on the New Board of Directors Ordinance. The Council and Board of Directors are being invited. At this point we do have two openings on the Board of Directors, but do have applications for appointments.

The month of February started with the trip to the Department of Interior in Washington DC on February 2nd which I reported on in my last article. On February 6th, I attended the Elder’s Meeting at the new Community Center and on the 20th, I attended the Election Board Meeting at our Muskegon offices. The meeting was very informative and covered the newly proposed Election Ordinance.

On February 24th, the United Tribes of Michigan held their annual reception at the Raddison Hotel in Lansing. The reception was well attended. On Thursday, the United Tribes of Michigan Meeting was held at Clark Construction offices in Lansing. Along with me, Tribal Council members and staff also attended; Candace Chapman, Virgil Johnson, Glenn Zaring, Robert Memberto and Dan Green. A wide variety of topics were covered which included, off-shore wind turbines, Michigan Indian Tuition Waiver, Asian carp in the Great Lakes, coal-fired power plants and gaming issues just to name a few.

On February 26th I also attended meeting with the County of Muskegon and the Village of Fruitport on our Muskegon project with Chief Legal Counsel Dan Green; Director of Commerce, Robert Memberto and Council Speaker, Steve Parsons. The meeting was very positive as we continue to work towards a Mutual Services Agreement. Later in the day I met with the General Manager of the Lakes Mall in Muskegon as we continue to work together towards our Muskegon casino project. Until next month…

Teachings of the Seven Grandfathers

-Dominic Eshkakgan

We have to take care of the earth or we will not have a home. We all share in this responsibility. The key work here is “responsibility”. We need to make sure that the earth and everything the Creator put on the earth will always be here for future generations. Each morning let us remember to greet our Grandmothers and Grandfathers, whose spirits are in the many glories that surround us. They taught us, as they have been taught by their Elders, how to take care of the earth.

Recorder’s Report to Membership for February 2010:

The Tribal Council conducted its normal meeting schedule for the month of February. As reported last publication, the Little River Casino and Resort FY 2010 Annual Operating Plan and Budget were submitted, but not fully authorized by a full and final approval by the Tribal Council. As of this report, the Council, Ogeima, and current Board of Directors will be meeting with the General Manager, to resolve all other issues, during the month of March. A new process is being instituted by the General Manger to provide for quarterly reviews of plan, with modifications based on the financial performance of the Casino. This is a new process, and will enable the Recorder to provide a quarterly overview of performance against plan in the next Recorder’s report.

The Tribal Council did not reach its goal of enacting the revisions to the Board of Director’s Ordinance by the end of February. However, the new legislation, which is expected to be titled Gaming Enterprise(s) Board of Directors Ordinance was finalized, and did include modifications that result in a new board comprised of 5 members. The members of this board will have three members serving who are not elected officials, in response to concerns that there were too many Council members proposed by the original version posted for public comment. As of this publication, the Ogeima will be granted discretion regarding his serving on this board, in response to the Ogeima’s position that he should not be a voting member of the Board. In the event that the Ogeima is willing to serve on the Board, he will also act as Chairman of the Board. There were other changes proposed as a result of the public input, and the Tribal Council did take into consideration the comments of Ogeima Romanelli. It remains the position of Tribal Council that changes to the structure of the Casino are necessary to ensure proper oversight of gaming activity, including continued compliance with Tribal and Federal Gaming laws and mandates.

The Council routinely receives Operations Reports from the Government, as filed by the Ogeima. Highlights from the most recent report submitted for January of 2010 included the following information (note that this is a brief synopsis, and does not include information from every department or their full report):

Operations reports are submitted by the Ogeima to the Tribal Council on a Monthly basis. The full reports for each department are on file within the Tribal Council office, as well as being available to view on the Tribal Council’s website. Space constraints prevent me from providing information on each department’s activities or reports, however, the activities of all departments are important to the Tribe.

In the next month’s submission, the activity report will include updated financial graphs based on the first quarter’s financial information, as well as an overview of the Little River Casino Resort Annual Plan and First quarter numbers. The Tribal Council met to discuss legislative priorities as well during the month of February. The Tribal Council identified four issues that will be the priority focus of new or amended legislation:

- The Gaming Enterprises Board Ordinance (which is nearly completed)
- The Sex Offenders Notification and Registration Ordinance
- Amending the Gaming Ordinance to change Licensure requirements
- Address potential Constitutional amendments during 2010.

These matters will be the primary focus of the Council, to address issues to protect the welfare of the Tribe and its citizens. Other priorities will be updated in future reports as the Council completes new or amended legislation and moves on to other priorities. Currently, the Tribal Council has identified approximately 27 other matters that require additional or new legislation. Please continue to watch for postings of new ordinances or amendments, as each legislative enactment requires a 30 day public comment period.
The United Tribes of Michigan gathered for their first regularly scheduled meeting of 2010 on February 25th in the state capitol of Lansing, MI. Starting with a Legislative Reception the evening before at the Radisson Hotel Downtown, the various tribal representatives discussed a wide range of events and issues affecting their tribal communities.

Little River Band of Ottawa Indians Ogema Larry Romanelli officiated as the duly elected President of the United Tribes for this year. He was accompanied to the meeting by Tribal Council members, Candace Chapman and Virgil Johnson. From the Executive Branch, Chief Legal Counsel Dan Green, Commerce Director Robert Memberto and Public Affairs Director Glenn Zaring were also in attendance.

The meeting started on a solemn note as everyone shared a moment of silence for Chairperson Laura Spurr of the Nottawaseppi Huron Band of Potawatomi Indians who had passed away a week before the meeting. Spurr had been elected Vice President of the United Tribes at the meeting in Battle Creek last fall.

Clark Construction of Lansing opened their Learning Center for the United Tribes meeting and provided a very nice buffet luncheon for the assembled tribal representatives.

The United Tribes had a very full agenda to consider at this all day session including:

- The first presentation was on the status of the Michigan Indian Tuition Waiver. Mike McCoy, Melissa Claramunt and Chairman Matt Wesaw reviewed challenges to the tuition waiver and strategies for ensuring that the program remains in place during these times of economic challenge on the part of the state. They consider the program to be in jeopardy and asked the United Tribes to be especially vigilant to challenges against the Indian Tuition Waiver.

- United Tribal Executive Director Frank Ettawageshik; John Wernet from the Governors' office and LRBOI's TEPC head, Glenn Zaring made a presentation on the proposed inter-tribal agreement for emergency management. This group hopes to have a proposal ready for consideration by the United Tribes shortly. Keweenaw Bay Indian Community President Warren “Chris” Swartz was concerned that such an agreement could impact sovereignty of tribal nations. This will be addressed but is not expected to be an issue as the agreement will only be between tribal nations.

- NCAI Midwest Area VP (and Tribal Chair) Matt Wesaw gave an update on the NCAI and the strong position of the United Tribes of Michigan as representing 12 of the total 37 member tribal organization. He asked for input from tribal leaders on issues of concern to take to NCAI.

- There were two Gaming issues brought to the United Tribal meeting:
  - Little Traverse Bay Band Vice Chair Dexter McNamara presented an idea for the tribes to consider a ‘tribal lottery’ as a further means of enhancing revenue for the tribes.
  - James Nye, Gun Lake Band Public Relations head, updated attendees with news of two proposals for the expansion of non-tribal gaming in Michigan. One proposal would be for 8 additional casinos including 5 at race tracks. Another proposal would call for 7 new casinos. The deadline for petitions is July 5th and 380,000 signatures would be required.

- A candidate forum was discussed for the upcoming state election. Ogema Romanelli, Chairman Matt Wesaw and LRBOI's Glenn Zaring proposed creating a short list of questions for candidates for the governor's seat and others this fall. The idea would be to develop a list of 5-6 specific questions of tribal concern and give it to the candidates. Their responses would be shared with tribal members from the United Tribes. It was also discussed that we could possibly stage a candidate forum and live-stream it via the internet to tribal members. Possible questions and methods of passing on candidates’ response will be explored prior to the next United Tribes meeting.

KBIC President Warren “Chris” Swartz gave an impassioned presentation about their fight against development of sacred lands at Eagle Rock. Kennecott Mining is trying to open a copper mine at Eagle Rock and the tribes are contesting the development. Swartz asked the assembled tribal leadership to consider supporting them in their fight. One aspect of the dispute is that the State of Michigan does not recognize natural locations such as Eagle Rock to be religious or spiritual sites that ordinarily receive federal protection. Swartz pointed out that just because, “…we have not built a building with a steeple on the site does not mean it is any the less sacred to our native peoples.” (paraphrased comments). In 2004, the United Tribes of Michigan had adopted a resolution opposing the “Yellow Dog Mine” development at Eagle River.

The meeting adjourned on time and Ogema Romanelli thanked everyone for their participation.
United Tribes meet in Lansing

Jamie Scripps from Great Lakes Offshore Wind Council (GLOW) gave a presentation on the idea of establishing ‘Wind Farms’ in Lake Michigan. The Council says that the state is not prepared for these farms and does not have sufficient licensing or regulations in place to handle them. Part of the discussion was the need to have the tribal nations at the table at the beginning of this discussion and not just after the fact due to our treaty status, our duty to protect the natural resources, our responsibility to protect our fishing (commercial and subsistence) and above all, our tribal sovereignty.

B. Sorenson TASCET

Lansing Mayor Virgil Bernero welcomed the tribal leaders and spoke of his city and his recently announced candidacy for the Democratic Gubernatorial Primary. He reviewed his activity and support for tribal leaders and issues in the past as well as discussed some of his approaches to addressing current state challenges.

Brenda Sorenson from TASCET, Inc. gave a presentation on the REAL ID and the issue of ‘acceptable’ Tribal ID cards. The REAL ID act of 2005 and the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative have said that only birth certificates and passports are acceptable forms of ID to obtain a REAL ID card embedded with a RFI chip containing identification information. Implementation of these requirements has been extended but will be an issue in the future. Many tribal representatives expressed concern over sovereignty issues; privacy issues and the costs of providing these cards. The discussion continues at the highest levels.

State Representative Arian Meekhof (Lansing) and Terry Mulvihill from AT&T gave a presentation on the Asian Carp concerns for the Great Lakes. Not only tribes with commercial fishing operations are impacted by the Asian Carp. All tribes and residents are concerned. Meekhof alluded to problems with the City of Chicago governments’ unwillingness to take the issue seriously. He also pointed out that there is a federal ‘agency’ shuffle going on right now and the issue needs to be given to one agency to actually take control and fix the problem.

George Roman, area head of the 2010 Census Indian Country Counts and three of his assistants, including LRBOI member Carol Gibner, gave a presentation on the census to the tribes and pointed out the importance of participation by our tribal communities. They also had a table with information and materials set up outside the meeting room at Clark Construction.

Robin Clark (daughter of the Sault Tribes’ Mike McCoy) gave a presentation on behalf of the Intertribal Council of Michigan in regard to the effect of the coal-fired power plants in the state with a special review of the impact on Climate, Health and Resources of the state. As part of a grant she has prepared impact studies showing the amount of hydrocarbons and other matter that affect tribal reservations and populations. Robin is a strong supporter of responsible alternative energy development.
Keeping the Language Alive

Anishinaabemowin Classes at MHS

by Victoria Parker

“Without the Language, the Heart of the People, a Nation Vanishes…” -- Zoey Solman

“You have a very strong message and we need to hear it.” -- Bob Olsen

The enthusiasm of the students in Kenny Pheasant’s Anishinaabemowin class at Manistee High School was contagious as they spoke. Their eyes were bright and their words full of respect for not only their instructor, but also for the language they are learning.

Sunflower Wilson, a senior at MHS and the oldest student in the class, happily expressed her views about the course. “I really like it,” she said. “(The class) is important to the survival of the language.”

According to Pheasant, Language Coordinator for the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians, the twelve students enrolled in his language class at the local high school are the first students to ever receive Anishinaabemowin instruction at MHS. The class, which meets daily during the school’s fifth hour session, is the first time MHS has ever offered a credited course in the native language. The students range from freshmen to seniors and come from varied heritages and backgrounds. Thomas Sutton, a freshman and the youngest student in the class, is following a family tradition. “My Grandpa used it (Anishinaabemowin),” Sutton said. And Jacob Berentsen, a sophomore, said he chose the class for two reasons. “It is different,” Berentsen explained, “and my family is Anishinaabe. My great-grandpa… it was all he knew.”

Although the class at MHS is new, Pheasant’s presence in the school system is not. Describing his first meeting with Bob Olsen, much loved MAPS Superintendent who recently passed away, Pheasant got misty-eyed. Ten years ago, as Pheasant gave an interactive presentation for three local elementary schools, he noticed “a great big tall man” watching him. “I offered him my camera and asked if he would take pictures,” Pheasant recounted. The man accepted and, after the speech, approached Pheasant. Olsen, who was then Principal of Kennedy School, looked Pheasant in the eye. “I want you to teach in my school,” the tall man said. “You have a very strong message and we need to hear it.”

That first fortunate encounter developed into what Pheasant describes as a “very structured program” with fifth grade students. “The teachers and students love it,” Pheasant said, as he explained that he also instructs sixth grade students. Last year, Ogema Romanelli contacted Pheasant and LRBOI Historical Preservation Director, Jay Sam, about bringing Anishinaabemowin into Michigan college syllabi. A large meeting was held, with Olsen and West Shore Community College included, to discuss options. WSCC agreed to offer the class, Pheasant agreed to construct the curriculum, and MHS agreed to host the course on its campus. Students who successfully complete the program receive college credits.

Sam, who recently taught Anishinaabek history and culture at Casman Academy, cited Olsen’s appreciation of the importance of local history and cultural sensitivity. Sam realizes that language and culture are intertwined and can produce “a whole different mindset.” He explained that, in Anishinaabemowin, the word for ‘teaching’ is AkiNoMaage, which translates as ‘information gained from the Earth’ and that the native language is artistic in its application. He believes that people are motivated to learn the language when they hear it spoken and is thankful that the tribal government puts value upon learning Anishinaabemowin.

Pheasant remembers meeting Raczkowski at that class. “She walked in and said, ‘I want to learn my language. I want to work for my tribe.’ And she’s done both!” Raczkowski has only missed two classes in a decade.

While others might deem Raczkowski adept in the language, she explained her knowledge this way: “I will never consider myself fluent because there is always something to learn.” Raczkowski’s favorite part of Anishinaabemowin is the sound when others speak. “There is a flow that makes you feel connected... it draws pictures in your head.” She is teaching her grandchildren the language and also assists Pheasant with the MHS class. She shares Pheasant and Sam’s passion for keeping the language alive. “I wish we could get more people interested,” Raczkowski said.

Pheasant leads the MHS Anishinaabemowin class in an interactive mode. “I’m not your typical language teacher,” he smiled. The students hear the words before they ever see them in print. He uses props and visuals and conducts the class in a one-on-one manner. Raczkowski is readily available to help, moving through the rows of desks and standing kindly at a student’s side. Patrick Wilson, junior at MHS, enjoys this style of teaching. “We go over and over (the words), applying them in different ways.” Referring to the spoken-word approach, Jackie Adamczak, a senior, said, “I get it better than other languages I’ve tried.”

Liz Barker, also a senior, said, “My favorite part is how Kenny teaches, it is not confusing.” Dalton Thompson, ninth-grader, mentioned Pheasant’s “bag-o-props” that help him visualize what he is learning.

For Talitha Loura, sophomore, the high school class is an extension of the instruction she had from Pheasant in fifth grade. The previous experience “motivated me to take this class,” Loura stated. Shawndra Dahlgren also had Anishinaabemowin in elementary school. “I get to learn a new language and get college credit,” Dahlgren said. Like many of Pheasant’s students, both Loura and Dahlgren use the language with their families when they are at home. In fact, Anishinaabemowin spills out of the MHS classroom and can even be heard in the halls of the building. Faculty and students greet Pheasant and Raczkowski in the native language as they walk the halls. The beautiful words ring out over the jostling of books and papers, over the shuffling of feet and English banter. “Aanii, Mr. Pheasant,” a student calls. Pheasant returns the greeting. “Aanii, Alicia,” he smiles.

Pheasant maintains a website, http://www.anishinaabemdaa.com, for learning Anishinaabemowin and aspects of Anishinaabe culture. According to Pheasant, the website “gets over 2,000 unique visitors per week.” He assigns homework for his MHS students to ten minutes a day at the website. He also has produced two CD-ROMs that are available through the Historical Preservation Department. In the summer, the department hosts an Anishinaabemowin camp that Pheasant describes as “a celebration of what our language and culture brings to us.”

On Tuesday evenings, Pheasant offers an Anishinaabemowin class that is “open for anyone.” He says, “I’ve had non-Indian people come into class and learn the language.” The classes are held at the Historical Preservation offices for the young, elders and entire families.

The Anishinaabemowin class at Manistee High School is an extension of Pheasant’s love of his native language and culture. He believes in sharing the language with all. “Learning Anishinaabemowin is learning the culture,” Pheasant explains. “You cannot separate culture from language. The culture is held within the language.” Working with the local high school is something he never thought would happen and Pheasant happily says, “It has become a community effort. The Ogema, the parents of the students, everyone has been involved.”

He wishes Bob Olsen could have lived to share the culmination of the combined efforts in bringing Anishinaabemowin to the higher level schools. “I really wanted him to be able to greet the high school class,” Pheasant said. Nonetheless, Olsen did know that the class was going to be held and Pheasant is happy about that.

Kenny Pheasant’s passion is contagious. From informally teaching Anishinaabemowin to customers as he worked his first job as a meat cutter, Pheasant has truly embraced his calling by continuing to instruct others in his native tongue. His students reflect his enthusiasm and their own words give tribute to the effect that Pheasant and Raczkowski’s teachings and the language itself has had on them. André Nebnagzechick, freshmen student, said, “(The class) is awesome and really.

7. Q. What are the age groups for Per Capita Payments?

A. Tribal Members who are eligible consist of two groups 18 to 54 and Elders 55 and up.

Use the chart below to determine eligibility for each quarterly payment.

8. Q. Are minor Tribal Members eligible to receive Per Capita Payments?

A. No- Tribal members under the age of 18 shall not be eligible to receive per capita distributions.

9. Q. What will the tribe do with Per Capita payments that are not claimed?

A. See Revenue Allocation Plan Section 8 (b) Use of Net Gaming Revenues: Individual Per Capita Distributions- Any net gaming revenues allocated for the purpose of funding per capita distributions that have not been expended on the last date of the fiscal year shall be reallocated to tribal investments.

10. Q. How are Per Capita payments disbursed by age group? Amounts illustrated below are an EXAMPLE and should not be misinterpreted as the amount that will be disbursed. Amounts will vary depending on net gaming revenues generated.

A. Payment amounts are determined by a point system. Adults age 18 to 54 receive 1 point and Elders Age 55 and older receive 2 points. Example: Using the chart below the calculation for Elders is the point schedule multiplied by the number of Elders (2 x 715=1430). From this number the Allocation Percentage is calculated by using the points divided by the total of both groups points (1430 / 3929 = .3639603 OR 36.40%). From this percentage the Revenue Share is calculated by using the Net Gaming Revenue multiplied by the Allocation % ($2,500,000 x 36.40% = $909,900.74). The Revenue Share is then divided by the number of Elders ($909,900.74 / 715 = $1,272.59)

11. Q. Can Per Capita payments be garnished?

A. Yes, Per Capita distributions may be withheld to satisfy any court ordered judgment obtained by the tribe against the qualified tribal member or to satisfy court ordered child support obligations. Any amount remaining after satisfaction of the court ordered judgment or child support obligation shall be distributed to the qualified tribal member in accordance with the provisions of the Revenue Allocation Plan.

12. Q. Can the payment be electronically deposited into a checking or savings account?

A. Yes, by completing the Direct Deposit form the payment may be deposited to the qualified tribal member’s bank account. Contact the Enrollment Department to request the form and instructions. NOTE* If you plan to move you must update your address with the Enrollment Department. At any time a members information on file with Enrollment Department is determined incorrect the Direct Deposit for the member will be cancelled, until information is up to date.
13. Q. Can state and/or federal assistance programs be affected by Per-Capita payments?
A. The Tribe cannot provide guidance for all the agencies that require you to report a change in income. We encourage you to contact the agency office for further information concerning your specific questions about income based assistance programs. For example if you receive S.S.I., DHS, Commodities, please contact your agency.

14. Q. Can a member refuse these payments?
A. If the Tribal member meets the eligibility requirements of the Revenue Allocation Plan they will receive per capita payments. Many agencies will count these payments as available income to you even if you refuse the payments. We encourage you to contact the agency office for further information concerning these payments.

15. Q. Will Per Capita payments be the same amount each time?
A. No. The payments will vary depending on the amount of net gaming revenues generated each quarter. The Revenue Allocation Plan allocates 40% of the net gaming revenues to per capita payments. The revenue allocation plan sets forth the amount the tribe can disburse to tribal members. The payments are made quarterly from the gaming revenues generated.

16. Q. Are the Per Capita payments considered income?
A. Many agencies count per capita payments as income. For further information contact the agency office with specific questions you may have.

17. Q. When are the Per Capita Payments made?
A. Per Capita payments will be distributed to qualified tribal members on the first day of each fiscal quarter. January 1st payment will be issued December 15th.

How It Affects the Nation
We Can’t Move Forward Until You Mail It Back

That’s why it’s so important that you fill in the form and promptly mail it back. Census information affects the numbers of seats your state occupies in the U.S. House of Representatives. And people from many walks of life use census data to advocate for causes, rescue disaster victims, prevent diseases, research markets, locate pools of skilled workers and more.

When you do the math, it’s easy to see what an accurate count of residents can do for your community. Better infrastructure. More services. A brighter tomorrow for everyone. In fact, the information the census collects helps to determine how more than $400 billion dollars of federal funding each year is spent on infrastructure and services like:

- Hospitals
- Job training centers
- Schools
- Senior centers
- Bridges, tunnels and other-public works projects
- Emergency services

Participation isn’t just important—it’s mandatory.

How It Benefits Your Community

The 2010 Census is your community’s voice in government.

When you fill out the census form, you’re making a statement about what resources your community needs going forward.

Accurate data reflecting changes in your community are crucial in apportioning seats in the U.S. House of Representatives and deciding how more than $400 billion per year is allocated for projects like new hospitals and schools.

That’s more than $4 trillion over a 10-year period for things like new roads and schools, and services like job training centers.

The census effect in action

In addition, residents themselves have used census data to support community initiatives involving environmental legislation, quality-of-life issues and consumer advocacy.

- “Low-income families have clearly been targeted in this study.” The Organic Consumers Association used census data to lobby the Environmental Protection Agency to halt testing dangerous chemicals on low-income children in Florida.
- The testing was eventually stopped due to the petition. Go to the petition site and read the census data cited to help augment their case.
- “This data shows that Phillips has a higher number of both elderly and children under the age of 5 within its boundaries.” A town in Minneapolis used census data to push for further examination of the environmental and physiological impact of a proposed energy facility. Read the actual petition that was filed in court.

Florida is rapidly being developed, increasing the threats to wildlife” Save the Manatee Club petitions Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission to step up protection of Florida’s at-risk species using census data.

Census in the Constitution

Why Jefferson, Madison and the Founders Enshrined the Census in our Constitution

The U.S. Constitution empowers the Congress to carry out the census in “such manner as they shall by Law direct” (Article I, Section 2). The Founders of our fledgling nation had a bold and ambitious plan to empower the people over their new government. The plan was to count every person living in the newly created United States of America, and to use that count to determine representation in the Congress.

Enshrining this invention in our Constitution marked a turning point in world history. Previously censuses had been used mainly to tax or confiscate property or to conscript youth into military service. The genius of the Founders was taking a tool of government and making it a tool of political empowerment for the governed over their government.

They accomplished that goal in 1790 and our country has every 10 years since then. And we’re about to continue that tradition in 2010. In 1954, Congress codified earlier census acts and all other statutes authorizing the decennial census as Title 13, U.S. Code. Title 13, U.S. Code, does not specify which subjects or questions are to be included in the decennial census. However, it does require the Census Bureau to notify Congress of general census subjects to be addressed 3 years before the decennial census and the actual questions to be asked 2 years before the decennial census.

Questions beyond a simple count are Constitutional

It is constitutional to include questions in the decennial census beyond those concerning a simple count of the number of people because, on numerous occasions, the courts have said the Constitution gives Congress the authority to collect statistics in the census. As early as 1870, the Supreme Court characterized as unquestionable the power of Congress to require both an enumeration and the collection of statistics in the census. The Legal Tender Cases, Tex.1870; 12 Wall., U.S., 457, 536, 20 L.Ed. 287. In 1901, a District Court said the Constitution’s census clause (Art. 1, Sec. 2, Clause 3) is not limited to a headcount of the population and “does not prohibit the gathering of other statistics, if necessary and proper,” for the intelligent exercise of other powers enumerated in the constitution, and in such case there could be no objection to acquiring this information through the same machinery by which the population is enumerated.” United States v. Moriarity, 106 F. 886, 891 (S.D.N.Y.1901).

In 2000, another District Court agreed and found that it there is no constitutional limit on collecting additional data, when necessary for governance. That court also said responses to census questions are not a violation of a citizen’s right to privacy or speech. Morales v. Daley, 116 F. Supp. 2d 801, 809 and 816. (S.D. Tex. 2000). These decisions are consistent with the Supreme Court’s recent description of the census as the “linchpin of the federal statistical system…collecting data on the characteristics of individuals, households, and housing units throughout the country.” Dept. of Commerce v. U.S. House of Representatives, 525 U.S. 316, 341 (1999).

History of the Census

The first census began more than a year after the inauguration of President Washington and shortly before the second session of the first Congress ended. Congress assigned responsibility for the 1790 Census to the marshals of the U.S. judicial districts. The pay allowed for the 1790 “enumerators” was very small, and did not exceed $1 for 50 people properly recorded on the rolls.

The First Federal Congress established a special committee to prepare the questions to be included in the first census. The suggestions were likely debated in the House, and according to a report in a Boston newspaper, Virginia Representative James Madison recommended at least five of the initial six questions.

The six inquiries in 1790 called for questions on gender, race, relationship to the head of household, name of the head of household, and the number of slaves, if any. Marshals in some states went beyond these questions and collected data on occupation and the number of dwellings in a city or town.

The 2010 questionnaire is one of the shortest in history, and comes very close to the length and scope of inquiries asked in 1790. Everyone in the household answers seven questions: name, gender, race, ethnicity, and whether they sometimes live somewhere else. The head of household answers how many people live in the residence, whether it is a house, apartment, or mobile home, and provides a telephone number for Census workers to follow up if any information is incomplete or missing.

The first census in 1790 was managed under the direction of Thomas Jefferson, the Secretary of State. Marshals took the census in the original 13 states plus the districts of Kentucky, Maine, and Vermont, and the Southwest Territory (Tennessee). Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson was nominal supervisor of the census on Census Day, August 2, 1790.
It wasn’t quite like the Olympic games, but the LRBOI Annual Goonignebig (Snowsnake) Tournament took place on Saturday, February 13, 2010 at the Tribal Community Center. Despite the cold and cloudy conditions, we had 82 participants race their snakes while many others observed the competition.

After hours of racing, everyone gathered inside for a homemade lunch of Indian tacos, wild rice soup, chili, salads, frybread, and dessert. Each competitor received a newly designed long-sleeve shirt and participation ribbon while each winner received a placement medal. Manistee, Mi. – February 15, 2010 - Little River Casino Resort proudly announces its partnership with Manistee County charter boat captains for the inaugural Tight Lines for Troops charity salmon fishing tournament. The event has been scheduled for Monday, May 24, 2010 on Lake Michigan.

The tournament will host up to 120 Michigan military veterans, with priority given to disabled vets. It will be a day of camaraderie and world-class fishing on Lake Michigan. The goal is to express support and gratitude for distinguished military service to our nation. Proceeds will benefit the event co-sponsors: Michigan Paralyzed Veterans of America and the Michigan Brain Injury Association. Other activities are planned for families of the tournament participants including canoeing, a classic car show, family fun walks along the boardwalk, historical tours of Manistee, arts and crafts for kids, hikes and crafts at the Lake Bluff Bird Sanctuary, and many other activities.

“The generosity of these charter boat captains, many of them veterans themselves, and the support of many veterans organizations within the county, promises to provide the foundation for a very exciting inaugural event,” stated Bob Guenthardt, event founder and captain of Renegade Charters based in Manistee.

The Tight Lines for Troops participants will enjoy a pre-tournament dinner meeting at Manistee VFW Hall, served by the United Veterans Council of Manistee County. The tournament day begins with a shotgun start at the pier heads. Tournament weigh-in activities will take place at 1:30 pm at the National Guard Armory with a barbecue luncheon provided by the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians Warrior Society. The awards banquet will be provided later that evening at Little River Casino Resort beginning at 5:00 pm.

“Donations will first cover the expenses of the tournament participants based on need, including transportation and lodging, with the residual proceeds to benefit the Michigan Paralyzed Veterans of America and the Brain Injury Association of Michigan veterans program to help our returning combatants by creating a better future through education, advocacy, research, support and prevention,” stated Rick Briggs, a retired Major with the United States Air Force and manager of veterans programs with the Brain Injury Association of Michigan.

The public is encouraged to join in this salute to Michigan veterans. Veterans can submit Tight Lines for Troops tournament registration information to Rick Briggs at 810-229-5880.

Sponsorship and Donation opportunities are available. For more information, please contact Bob Guenthardt at 231-723-3282 or Rick Briggs at 810-229-5880.

In the February Currents on page 31, a ‘Tribal Forestry Management Plan’ was announced. Since that time there has been some confusion in regard to the whole matter including fears of clear cutting and uncontrolled cutting of our trees.

Natural Resource employee Israel Stone addressed the confusion and after a lengthy discussion with Commissioner Michael Ceplina as well as Natural Resource Director Jimmie Mitchell and Tribal Council member Virgil Johnson Stone announced that, “We have cleared the air on the issues. I will note however that for clarity purposes that the whole point to this project is not to cut down trees but rather to remediate properties to a more native state and improve the overall forest health as well as wildlife habitat. The goals and objectives listed below should hopefully be the consistent message that we all convey to our Tribal Citizens and other interested parties.

- This is a Tribally-controlled sale, so therefore we at the departmental level are in contact with the loggers every day to assure the only timber removed from the properties are marked.
- The target species of tree to be harvested is red pine.
- There are no clear cutting methods being used on the properties it is a 1/3 removal or every third row cutting, meaning that we will remove either 1/3 of the total amount of trees or cut out every third row of pine trees. With that said there are two properties that we chose to remove pines and create openings they are kettle hole and river road parcels. The purpose for the openings are to create very specific wildlife rehabilitation areas as well as to plant traditional plants for Tribal Citizen harvest opportunities. (Huckleberry, wild blue berry, ginseng and other species) This will promote both Tribal Citizen gathering as well as hunting opportunities. In total on about 12 acres were used to create openings for these purposes. The rest of the parcels that are being cut in the initial round of testing will be a every third row harvest.
- As a Natural Resource department we are charged with a lot of responsibilities to keep everything in a healthy balance part of this project is to remove timber but the larger goal and responsibility is to rehabilitate the lands that have been harvested. How do we achieve this goal? The Tribal Council has committed 100% of the timber proceeds to remediate the forests and habitat. The department has already done extensive research to determine what plant life will flourish in former pine stands in direct sun as well as in poor soil that has high acidic levels. We have purchased special equipment to plan around the pine stumps and after a few years will remove the stump altogether.
- It is the direction of the department that when we replant the forest that we will not be planting seedlings or saplings but rather trees six feet or better in height to have better survivability. It is also the goal to achieve more wildlife diversity from planting different forage along with the trees to improve wildlife habitat as well as Tribal Citizen gathering and hunting opportunities. Trees Such as sugar maple, red cedar and white cedar for Citizen gathering as well as for wildlife habitat, also red and white oak, beech, crab apple, thorn apple to produce mast crops for wildlife forage.

The end result for the project is to not only improve the forest, but also improve Tribal Citizen gathering and hunting opportunities. As this project continues to progress even as early as this fall you should all see great improvements in our forests. The diversity in wildlife on our properties will be enhanced greatly. The mast crops that are produced will attract not only whitetail deer but other species such as Bear, Turkey, Rabbit, Grouse and many other wildlife species. Tribal Citizens will be able to gather Huckleberry, wild blueberry, maple syrup and other ceremonial plants on Tribal properties. We have been working the U.S. Forest Service and we will be able to gate trails that currently go through Tribal properties to better protect and preserve our resources. The end result of this project will be one that we all will be proud to have been a part of and a road map for how we will manage our properties in the future.

Together we can achieve a great success and preserve these resources for generations to come. Divided on these issues we can assure the failure of this project and the potential to show ourselves once again of Managers of the Resource. This is a very important component of our overall goal of restoring our reservation. Thank you for your time and understanding, this communication is not to point the finger or belittle anyone but rather to empower you with the tools you need to help make informed decisions and communications to others.”

Aanii piish (where) … Justice Center
Wenesh pii (when). April 26at 5:30
NOTE: The meeting is the last Monday of every month.
It is traditionally believed within the Native American community that children are a gift from the creator and should be nurtured, protected, and guided. In the time of our ancestors there were many environmental dangers that children needed to be protected from and taught to respect. Times have changed a bit and the dangers that our children face have changed as well. In today’s society children are at risk of being harmed in their schools, on the internet, at home, virtually anywhere. However, built into the Native American culture are many important tools that can be used to prevent child abuse.

The Family Service Department of the LRBOI offers a traditionally based class for parents and caregivers to explore how to become positive role models for their children. In the following interview with the facilitator of the program Kathy Lagerquist, LBSW, one can get an idea of how the traditional approach to parenting can not only benefit parents but children as well. It is during the month of April which we as a community can learn ways to protect our children from abuse.

Interviewer: What kinds of tools does the Positive Indian Parenting class provide participants with that may help prevent child abuse?

Kathy: We help parents identify their values and give them strategies such as storytelling, observation, planning ahead and goal setting that they can use to raise healthy, productive children that will contribute to their tribe and to the greater society. The Seven Grandfather teachings are an important tool that provides a firm foundation for themselves and for their children. We encourage parents to use this tool to examine their own childhoods and, if need be, use it to “re-parent” or “self-parent” themselves, so they can be a healthy role-model for their own children. Unless we, as parents, look closely at how we learned to parent we will continue to make the same mistakes, which often leads to abuse and neglect of our children.

Interviewer: How does Positive Indian Parenting differ from other parenting programs?

Kathy: Positive Indian Parenting differs from other programs in the way it helps parents think about how they were raised and what kind of parent they want to be. By exploring the Old Ways before the influence of the modern world, they can reconnect with a parenting style that taps into their “blood memory”. It focuses on the Seven Grandfather values of wisdom, love, respect, bravery, honesty, humility, and truth rather than on a specific childrearing “theory”. These values are often compatible with modern theorist, and help parents build a foundation of values and principles that make sense to them and provide the logic behind specific behavioral management strategies.

Interviewer: What lesson in the eight week class do you feel is most beneficial for parents and caregivers to achieve positive results in childrearing?

Kathy: One of the most valuable sessions is Lessons of Mother Nature that teaches parents to observe and learn from the natural world. There is much to be learned about the principals of balance, harmony, nurturing, and other life lessons that can be incorporated into our childrearing. We teach parents to help their children be aware of Mother Nature and to ask their children “what did you learn?” from their observations of the natural world.

Interviewer: What does the Positive Indian Parenting class teach about how children were traditionally valued and raised?

Kathy: It teaches that children were traditionally valued as gifts from the Creator and not as “possessions” of their parents. It teaches that children were an integral part of the tribal community and that parents, as well as the community as a whole, have a responsibility to love and care for our children as gifts. It also teaches that we often know more about the Old Ways than we think we do about raising happy, healthy children.

If you would like to find out more about the Positive Indian Parenting Class provided by the Family Service Department please contact: Kathy Lagerquist: 231-398-6705 Shelly Kequam: 231-398-6707 or toll-free 1-888-723-8288 and ask for Family Services Department.

Tribal ID Cards Must be Encoded

Soon Tribal members will have to have their Tribal ID cards encoded before they can make tax-exempt purchases at the Little River Trading Post.

New software is being installed to calculate tax exemptions and compile records required for tax exemptions. Tribal members will swipe their ID cards instead of filling out logs. Please watch the Tribal website (www.lrboi.com), the Rapid River News, and future issues of Currents for updates on this process.

Don’t be Surprised at Tax Time

Some employees have contacted the Tax Office to say they had their tax returns prepared and were surprised to find out they owe federal income tax. Others have said they were surprised to learn their tax refund was much smaller than they expected. You can avoid this situation next year if you take an active role in planning your payroll tax withholding so there is enough paid in at the end of the year.

One good tool for planning your withholding is the IRS Withholding Calculator. If you are an employee, the Withholding Calculator can help you determine whether you need to give your employer a new Form W-4 Employee’s Withholding Allowance Certificate to avoid having too much or too little federal income tax withheld from your pay. You can use your results from the calculator to help fill out the form.

Tips for using the Withholding Calculator:
- Have your most recent pay stubs handy.
- Have your most recent income tax return handy.
- Estimate values if necessary, remembering that the results can only be as accurate as the input you provide.
Steelhead Harvest in Streams and Rivers

Many opportunities exist for the harvest of steelhead in local streams and rivers including hook and line, spearing, bowfishing and hand netting. Under the 2007 Inland Consent Decree, the Tribes will continue regulating steelhead harvest similar to years in the past on the majority of rivers and streams within the 1836 Ceded Territory. Some specific river and stream segments where the spawning and survival of steelhead is believed to be highly successful are protected. Harvest opportunities exist in these “protected streams” with certain limitations.

General Regulations:
- Season is open all year.
- Bag limit is ten fish per day with a possession limit of twenty fish.
- Minimum size is 8”, except that only 3 fish larger than 16” may be kept per day.
- Legal fishing methods include hook and line, spearing, bowfishing, hand netting and by hand.
- No harvest permit is needed, but reports must be submitted to the Natural Resources Department within 7 days of harvest.
- Spearing and bowfishing for steelhead in the Little Manistee River from Manistee Lake to the Little Manistee River Weir is prohibited.
- Spearing in the following Upper Peninsula Streams is prohibited: Chocolay River, Mosquito River, Big Two Hearted River, Little Two Hearted River, and a portion of the Anna River.

Protected Stream Regulations:
- Spearing is allowed from April 1 to April 15. Steelhead fishing is closed to all other methods from March 15 to the last Saturday of April.
- Bag limit is three fish per day or as designated on your permit, whichever is less. Possession limit is twice the daily bag limit.
- Minimum size limit is 14” (steelhead harvested under 16” that are unable to be released alive should be kept and included as part of your daily bag limit).
- Legal fishing methods outside of the closed season (March 15 to the last Saturday in April) include hook and line, spearing, bowfishing, hand netting and by hand.
- Harvest reports must be submitted to the Natural Resources Department within 7 days of harvest.
- A harvest permit needs to be picked up at the Natural Resources Department at least seven hours prior to harvest.

General and Protected Stream Regulations, maps and a list of protected stream segments may be picked up at the Natural Resources Department and are also available online:

The Lesson of the Canoe

Two men had been walking along a bayou, returning to the village of their people on the main river channel, when one spotted an old canoe on shore. As they approached, the other saw some paddles laying in the weeds. “This will make our travel easier, and our burden lighter” said the first. “We are lucky that it still floats” noted the second. They knew the way back to the river’s channel, so the men sat in the canoe, but both faced each end. Shoving off they could go nowhere, as each tried to pull the canoe in their own direction. After several tries, they decided to talk it over. They finally decided that they would get into the canoe so that the first would face the middle and the other would then face the front. The one in front would power the canoe forward and lead the way, watching for trouble, while the one in back would steer the course. Working together they arrived at their village easily. One leads looking for dangers, the other steers around the dangers. Where do you sit in the canoe? (reprint from May, 1995)

Port and Vessel Security for Public Safety and Maritime Personnel was the topic and Pendleton stressed the importance of public agencies working in tandem with the Marine Transportation Security Act. A grant from the Department of Homeland Security provided financing for the training, which emphasized the need for coordinated efforts in response to a possible maritime transportation incident. Representatives from fire fighters, law enforcement, emergency medical servicers and emergency management systems were present to learn about the US Maritime Transportation System, Security Regulations and Environmental Safety issues.

The attendees participated in a pre and post course evaluation and were granted a certificate upon successful completion of the seminar.

Twenty-five local and area maritime responders, including members of LRBOI’s law enforcement, attended a safety seminar held at the LRBOI Casino and Resort on February 25. Tyler Pendleton, CET, an instructor for the University of Findlay School of Environmental and Emergency Management led the class.

Full time internships are approximately 6-10 weeks.
An individual is only allowed (1) one internship per calendar year.

Please see the Commerce Department’s Workforce Development Specialist for other programs that may assist you during your internship such as: Internship Hosting, Career Assistance Vouchers, Employment Daycare Assistance Voucher, Vocational Rehabilitation, Employer Incentive Rebate Program, and Development & Training.
Internships are for the benefit of the student. Interns are not to be used in place of employees. Interns will be placed in entry-level pre-professional experiences that are designed to enhance and build their skills. Generally, interns will observe the workplace, discuss with the supervisor such matters as why work is done in a certain way and suggest improvements based on their course work.

Internships are not designed to be an advantage to LRBOI and Interns are not entitled to a job at the conclusion of the internship. The purpose of the internship is to provide a learning experience. It is expected that the supervisory time required will outweigh any work performed by an intern.

Interns usually perform tasks under the watchful eye of a supervisor/employee. If an intern deals with clients or customers without a supervisor present—as a practice teacher will handle a class alone—they review proposed activities or decisions either beforehand or afterward with an employee/supervisor.

Interns will be required to acknowledge in writing that they are not an LRBOI employee, are not entitled to employee benefits, are not entitled to workers compensation, and will comply with all applicable company policies (e.g., confidentiality, illegal drugs, intoxication, safety, etc.). Any forms required by a government agency will be completed at the beginning of the internship.

The Intern will be provided with a current detailed job description of work tasks to be performed prior to any student placement.

Departmental functions and needs are likely to dictate whether interns will work a few hours each week during the academic year or join you for several days a week during school breaks.

In order to be considered for an Internship, interested college students meeting the Internship Education Grant Program requirements must:

1. Complete an Application for Programs to the Workforce Development Program;
2. Complete an Internship Application;
3. Provide the Workforce Development Program with a copy of college transcripts (high school transcript if no college GPA established);
4. Copy of current resume.

All completed paperwork must be received by the Commerce Department’s Workforce Development Program by Friday, May 7, 2010.

Forms are available through the Commerce Department’s Workforce Development Program located at 294 River Street, Manistee, MI 49660. Contact David Hawley at 1-888-723-8288 extension 6842, locally 231-398-6842, e-mail dhawley@lrboi.com.

APU Huton Junior Fisheries Biology Program

Kathryn Winkler
Hutton Program Coordinator Winkler may be contacted at kwinkler@fisheries.org.

Program Description
The Hutton Junior Fisheries Biology Program is a summer mentoring program for high school students sponsored by the American Fisheries Society (AFS). The principal goal of the program is to stimulate interest in careers in fisheries science and management among groups underrepresented in the fisheries professions, including minorities and women. Application to the program is open to all current 11th and 12th grade high school students, regardless of race, creed, or gender. Because the program seeks to increase diversity within the fisheries professions, qualified female and minority students are strongly encouraged to apply. Students selected for the program are matched with mentor professionals and enjoy an eight-week, hands-on fisheries science experience in a marine and/or freshwater setting. Assignments are made with participating organizations within reasonable commuting distance from the students. Each student receives a $3,000 scholarship and a complimentary student AFS.

Sunflower Wilson of Manistee, Michigan, has decided to continue working for the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians (LRBOI) Inland Fisheries and Water Quality Department, helping to educate people in her community about Nmé (sturgeon) and the importance of water quality. Wilson participated in the LRBOI Nmé Release Ceremony on 19 September 2009 by setting up a Hutton Junior Fisheries Biology Program booth and sharing her experiences as a Hutton scholar.

Cancer in our people

Marty Wabindato

Anii Tribal Members
My name is Marty Wabindato and I am a cancer survivor. January, 2009, after a routine checkup, I was told I have prostate cancer. (Karma does exist!) I went into a state of shock and denial for a month. At 50 I stopped drinking, after 35 years of alcoholism, at 54, I stopped smoking after 41 years of hard smoking. At 57, I have cancer? For my second opinion, I went to the Biederman Cancer Center in Traverse City. After confirming I had cancer, we went with the High Radiation seeds treatment. I went into Munson Hospital for 1 and a half days. I had 2 treatments the first day and 1 treatment the next morning. They sent me home at noon and I’m thinking, “This isn’t so bad.” About 2 hours later I got violently sick and was so for the next 15 days. Light, sound and motion was like 3 migraines at once. Never been so sick! Then 4 days after being so sick, I started 6 weeks of low radiation treatments. Monday through Friday I rode the cancer bus from Manistee to Traverse City and back home (about 150 miles round trip). My last treatment was May 12th and I started working for the tribe May 13th in the Housing Department as a temp. My last check up in December 2009 was very encouraging. Early detection is the best way to deal with cancer. The longer you wait, the less chance you have surviving. At 58, I love life & people! Being a champion dancer I’ve gone to hundreds of Pow Wows over the last 24 years. To ride my Mountain Bike 9 months out of the year is one of my greatest thrills. My Indian arts and crafts, regalia and dance will be my legacy with this tribe. Down the road, things will change, but for now, I enjoy every day!

Mary Bowers’ Fight Continues

Tribal Council Recording Secretary Janine M. Sam announced on Wednesday the 10th of March that Mary Bower will not be returning to her work with Council. Here is Janine’s message:

“Good Morning: It is with the saddest heart that I send this message to let you know that Mary Bower will not be returning to her position. She had originally intended to return to work in February, but had met with other difficulties.

She is doing very well, and she continues her experimental treatments in Detroit. She is still a beacon of hope for many afflicted with Inflammatory Breast Cancer, as her treatments are yielding very good medical progress in the treatment of this disease. She looks great, and has recently received confirmation that her cancer has not spread to other organs, which was very GREAT news to us! Although we will miss her, the Creator has a bigger “Job” for her in the fight against this disease, and providing other alternative treatments to others as well.

Those wanting to wish her well can always call, send a card, or email her. I took the liberty of including her email address on this message. She will be missed here at work, but I’m sure will come down to heckle the Tribal Council from her place in the audience once in a while! ☺

We all wish Mary Creator’s Blessings and wish her well in her recovery.

One of our great Natural Resources crew has recently been diagnosed with a serious illness. Bob Sanders is working with his doctors now to determine the exact course of treatment that will help him get back on his feet. In the meantime, the government employees led by the Grants and Members Assistance Departments brought together a Valentine’s Day fundraiser for Bob that culminated in a great luncheon at the Community Center.

The luncheon theme was a Chili Cook-off and there were five contestants: Lee Ivinson, Melissa Waitner, Linda Wissner, Amber Moore and Marcella Leusby. After everyone sampled the great chili, the one brought by Lee was voted as the best one at the table. Congrats to Lee!

Part of the fundraiser activity was the drawing for a Valentines’ Basket. Executive Branch employees and Tribal Council members contributed to make some wonderful baskets. They ended up with four baskets and an extra prize of a hat and gift certificate. Winners were: Spring Leusby—Hat and gift certificate; Darin Griffith–Basket; Jessica LeDoux–Basket; Melissa Waitner–Basket and Laura Wagoosh – Basket.

Volunteers working on the raffle included Mary Thomas, Spring Leusby, Michelle Lucas, Lee Ivinson, Marcella Leusby, Angie Willis, Bonnie Harnish – Ticket Sales. The luncheon was prepared by Melissa Waitner, Linda Wissner, Amber Moore, Lee’s Mom, Felisa Moore and Lee Ivinson.

Lee put out a “Big Thanks” to her staff members Linda Wissner and Amber Moore. She says they always do a wonderful job during a staff luncheon; they are fun and work hard to make sure everything is just right!

Also a “Big Thanks” to Ben Hamilton and his staff for set up of the community center, purchasing last minute supplies and handling the clean up. Ben Hamilton even brought in his Wii game and some of the employees shot hoops before lunch was ready to be served. Fun Stuff!

The total amount raised was $788 and Ogema Romanelli chipped in to round it off to $800.

Bob and his family are in all our prayers! He could not attend the luncheon so NR Director Jimmie Mitchell got everyone together for a group photo which he is going to e-mail to Bob.
Elder Wii Bowling

The CHRs from the Tribal Health Clinic have brought Wii bowling to the Community Center! Starting early in February, Elders began gathering on Tuesday afternoons at 1 p.m. to compete in Wii bowling. The fun program is growing nicely as more and more Elders join in.

Elder Del Peters said that it didn’t matter if you knew how to play this computer based game, that, “…there are always folks here who will help you learn. It’s great fun!”

The spirited group of Elders has also issued an Elder team Wii Bowling challenge to both the Ogema and the Tribal Council. Word is that it will be quite a ‘tournament’ when they get together! Your Currents will have coverage!

Plans are to add more days for bowling if there are enough people interested. For more information, contact your CHR or Trish or Holly at the Health Clinic.
