

PAID RESEARCH FOCUS GROUP OPPORTUNITY

CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS

Are you interested in cultural/natural resources, treaty rights, and climate change to support Indigenous sovereignty and self-determination?

- Little River Ottawa tribal members and descendants ages 18 and above who live within the Little River territorial homelands
- Tribal members and descendants who are interested in Nmé (Lake Sturgeon) and their connection to other culturally important natural resources (such as manoomin)
- Women, non-binary, and two-spirit people are especially encouraged to participate
- Little River Odawa tribal members and descendants who want to talk about their knowledge of the land/waters, nmé, and natural/cultural resources that have been impacted by climate change and what ideas they have for sovereignty and self-determination in a community-based conversation with other tribal members and descendants
- Focus groups will be held either virtually or in-person (preferred) masks optional.
- Participants will receive a $20.00 gift card

TO LEARN MORE ABOUT THIS OPPORTUNITY, CONTACT NATASHA: Natasha.myhal@colorado.edu or by phone (216) 571-7859.

Natasha is Anishinaabe Ojibwe (enrolled Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians) and is working with the Little River Band of Ottawa Indians Natural Resources Department to conduct community interviews to understand climate change and its impact on cultural/natural resources.
